Our Story & Team Culture

We started our vending journey with one clear goal: to help everyday people launch their own business through a high-value, low-barrier opportunity. Since then, we've grown into a full-service operation with a dedicated team supporting every stage — from sales and project management to technical support.

Our in-house technicians offer dependable, same-timezone service, ensuring our clients always have the help they need, when they need it. We proudly serve as the bridge between manufacturing and local entrepreneurs, making it simple and accessible for anyone to enter the vending industry with confidence.

At the heart of our company is a strong, diverse team — blending fresh, vibrant talent with seasoned veterans in the vending space. We celebrate the energy, innovation, and commitment each member brings to the table.

We look forward to building long-term relationships and supporting all your vending needs for years to come.

Why Vending Machine Ads?

Does Vending Advertising Work?

Absolutely! Vending machine screens advertising has proven to be a highly effective and impactful method of promoting products and engaging with customers. Let's explore why it works and the benefits it offers.

Bold marketing while customers place orders

Take a look at our vending machine's advertising screen! We can display ads on 1/3 of the screen while customers place their orders, ensuring high visibility. The top area of the machine can feature both image and video ads, capturing customer attention and enhancing your brand's visibility or driving sales. Additionally, we can integrate a QR code into the ads, allowing customers to quickly and easily access your information.

Vending machine screens advertising grabs attention. Traditional vending machines typically have static displays or simple product listings, which can easily blend into the surroundings.

However, with dynamic and vibrant digital screens, your brand and message stand out in the bustling environment. Eye-catching visuals, animations, and interactive content captivate the audience, drawing their attention to your products and promotions.

Moreover, vending machine screens advertising provides an opportunity for targeted marketing. By strategically placing vending machines in specific locations, you can reach your intended audience precisely where they are.

For example, if your target demographic is young professionals, you can position your advertisements with our machine in office complexes or shopping centers frequented by this group.

Full Screen Ads while machine idles

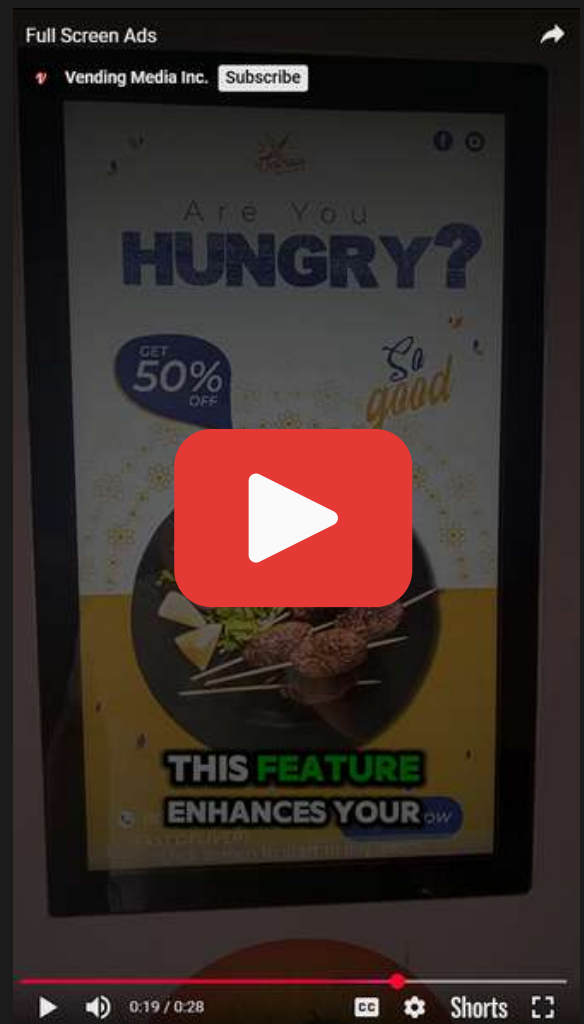

This full-screen ad feature captures 100% of the attention of customers passing by or approaching the machine. The 21-inch screen can display both image and video ads, providing maximum brand exposure for your business.

You can use the screen to offer special discounts, offers, news for private location use or you can use it to display local businesses and earn revenue from them.

Vending machine that offers screen advertising enhances the overall customer experience. By transforming the vending machine into an interactive and visually appealing platform, you create a memorable interaction with your audience. This positive experience can lead to increased brand loyalty and customer satisfaction, fostering long-term relationships with your target audience.

In conclusion, advertising using this method is a powerful tool that works. It captivates attention, provides targeted marketing opportunities, offers flexibility, gathers valuable data, and enhances the customer experience.

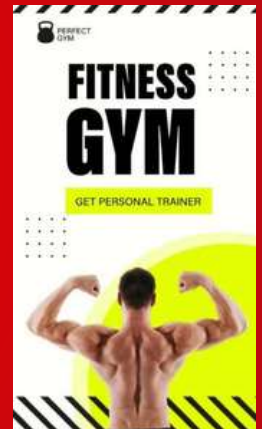

This machine offers a unique opportunity for your advertisers to connect with potential customers, fostering long-lasting business relationships.

TESTIMONIALS

Kimberly from Atlanta Georgia

If you're looking for an opportunity to earn 2 streams of income in one, consider Vending Media. From the beginning of first contact the support and communication has been superb. And after receiving my machines continued support has been great, helping me to setup my machines to helping me find locations for placement.

Wen Pin from Toronto, ON Canada

Vending Media made starting my own vending business smooth and stress free. They provided high advertising screen that increases earnings, delivered it quickly and even helped me find a prime location. Their support in setting up the machine and moving it into place was invaluable. I highly recommend them to anyone serious about getting into vending.

Garrett from Princeton, New Jersey

Working with Jack and his team has been an incredible experience from start to finish. Their professionalism, efficiency, and attention to detail made the entire process seamless for us at AFG Vending. The quality of our vending machines-both in performance and custom design — has truly exceeded our expectations. Jack guided us through every step with clarity and care, making it one of the best decisions we've made for our business. We're excited to continue growing our partnership and can't recommend them highly enough for their outstanding client service and commitment to excellence.
